fall. Mr. Goodrich was born near Bristol, Conn., in .823, and was a prosperous clock-maker in that town for a number of years and amassed a comfortable fortune. In 1858 he was elected a State Senator and again in 1870 he filled the same office.

young people's magazine, and holds the first place."

Several years ago he invested his money in Union Pacific stocks and quickly made $5,000. He then came to this city to live and had a clock factory in Warren-st. But the mania for speculation selzed on him and he embarked in it wildly with the result of losing over $100,000 and becoming a bankrupt. His business was sold out and finally he gained employment in the factory of the Ansonia Company. But he was despondent and in bad health and with no future prospects he attempted to end his life. His wife is living in New-Haven and making a living by selling books.

THE COURT HOUSE NEEDS LEPAIRS.

JUDGE LARREMORE FINDS OUT THAT THE DEAIN-AGE AND VENTILATION ARE IN BAD CONDITION.

Warned by his own severe illness last winter, and by the ailments of other Judges and clerks in the new County Court House, Chief Justice Larremere, of the Court of Common Pleas, recently wrote to Presiingineering will begin Wednesday, November 14, at | dent Bayles, of the Health Department, asking him to make an examination into the santinary cor of the Court House. President Bayles ordered an investigation, and on Monday he sent to Judge Larremore the reports of A. H. Napier and John T. Cortoran, who were detailed to make the examination. They declare that the pipes are defective in many places, and that the connections near the roof are in had order. The soil and waste pipes are not in good condition, and the closet fixtures need repairing. Piles of rubbish in the cellar and attic are made foul by escaped steam. The system of heating and ventilation is pronounced so defective that the impure air is carried into the court-rooms, making it dangerous to the health of those who sit there. The new wing is especially affected in this way. It is recommended that repairs be made; that the sell and waste pipes be carried above the roof; and that the building be kept thoroughly clean.

Chief Justice Larremore, in a letter acknowledging the receipt of the reports, says:

"The severe illness of one of my associates, and the general complaint of many who frequent that building, seemed to warrant the action which I suggested, and which you have promptly taken in reference to the remedy which should be applied. The report of Mr. A. H. Napier and Mr. John C. Collins of Division, shows a thorough comprehension situation, and will receive due and proper con
